"Good! good! You're all right," he exclaimed on every hand, and Nicholas was about retiring from the hall, when a man rose in the middle of the hall and expressed the hope that he would remain a moment.

Nicholas recognized Mr. Lansing Minn, who, with Yantou, or "Twelvish," had taken a seat in the audience, in order to be ready for any emergency, and both to the ears of their recalcitrant audience. It was Lansing Minn's hand that, in the early part of the evening, placed the cane in the hand of being hurled at the head of Cavendish. They had led in the cheer, and he controlled and guided all the while, until the demonstrations of the audience.

"It seems to me," said Mr. Lansing Minn, "that this audience owes to the gentleman who has just spoken, and to our old friend Cavendish, a vote of thanks for our entertainment here to-night. I therefore propose that the thanks of the audience be presented to them for the use of the hall and the very instructive and interesting address that we have just listened to."

"I second the proposition," said Mr. Yantou promptly.

The proponent of the proposition put it to a vote, and it was carried on the vote. Nicholas, with a smile of acknowledgment on his face, bowed to the audience and retired, while Cavendish raised his hand and said—

"One word more—"

The audience paused—some standing, some sitting.

"One week from to-night there will be a lecture in this hall by Mr. Cavendish."

The announcement was greeted with the wildest merriment and applause.

"How to make it and how to use it," shouted Cavendish.

This addition excited loud laughter and cheers, as the grand joke of the evening.

"Every attendant present brought his dime at the box-office will be presented with a cake of soap, which will serve as his ticket of admission to the lecture."

"We'll give," said Lansing Minn.

"Every man and woman of us," shouted Yantou.

The hall was quickly emptied of as many an audience as any New York theatre sent into the street that night. They had been interested, they had been instructed, they had forgotten for more than an hour the low motives of their lives. The passengers upon the sidewalks and the streets had been drawn by the crowd, and wondered what had been done, and many men would straight home who had intended to waste the scanty contents of their pockets in drink.

Nicholas and Cavendish, on rejoining the little circle of friends behind the wing of the stage, were the recipients of quite an ovation. Both were warmly congratulated. Mr. and Mrs. Coates were there, having been attracted partly by curiosity, and partly by the enthusiasm of their daughter. Mrs. Coates only, of all the party, withheld her approval.

"It seems to me," said Mrs. Coates, "that this meeting ought to have been opened with prayer. I may seem to be a strange woman, but I like the good old ways."

"Yes," said Nicholas, who saw that he was the only person in the hall who responded to the suggestion, "but your t-trap with a chicken, catch your fox, and then break the staff of his face, and teach him the catechism."

It would have been too much to expect of the excited and happy group that they should receive the suggestion of Mr. Coates's idea of the situation without laughter; but there was not one of them—there was not one of the enthusiastic audience—who did not apprehend the unfairness of imprisoning a collection of five hundred people for a special occasion, and then taking an advantage of their helplessness to secure another. They had seen it tried, again and again, and they did not believe in it. They did believe, however, that God likes work better than words, that those who honestly labor for the fortunate child, who have his blessing in advance, without those phrases of public position which are uttered mainly for the effect.

From the hall the young people went directly to Miss Larkin, who awaited their return and report of a fever of excitement. She had asked of Nicholas the privilege of sharing in his expenses, so that she might be reckoned among the agents of the reform he had undertaken, and he could not refuse her request.

The meetings at "The Athenaeum" went on during the winter. The lecture upon soap was as great a success as that upon bread. New seats were put into the hall, and the audience enjoyed each season. The lecture on soap was followed by one on carbon in all its forms, from graphite to the diamond. The ticket for this lecture was a little inflated, made from coal like that which they burned upon their hearths. Cavendish was furnished with books for crumpling purposes, and was particularly brilliant and graphic in his representation of the uses of carbon in the world's fuel and light were deposited in their rocky store-houses. From useful things the lecture turned to the ornamental. The ticket to the first of these was a chronicle, and in this lecture upon art, Cavendish told with glowing effect the story of the morning which he and two of his companions spent with Nicholas in his room. The hearing of the lecture from his bracket, on that eventful morning, was made to do double duty, and the audience had been so far attracted by the exercises of the winter that they could not refuse to carry away a good deal.

There was a new life in hundreds of homes. Other philanthropists became interested in the remarkable experiment, and the appearance of a number of gentlemen and ladies upon the stage, with the permission of the audience, came to be a regular and expected affair. Of course, those who were poor, were poor still, but something had come into their lives to give them meaning. The audience lost their vulgarity, and gradually clothed themselves with beauty and even romance. They were more industrious, more frugal, less intemperate. They paid more attention to their persons. They were better dressed and cleaner.

While this was going on, other events were in progress among those with whom our story has brought us into association, and to these we must return for awhile, to come back to "The Athenaeum" experiment when it takes on a new character and develops a new phase of interest. It is sufficient to say now, in regard to this experiment, that its course, though always progressive, met with other difficulties, and it finally closed the time and the energy of those who carried it on to their utmost. Nicholas had made his mark in New York. He made all the purchases, became a personal adviser—almost a father confessor—to many of the poor and poor women, who were struggling to better their low conditions. He had a great deal of earnest help, but the help was the help of men of them all—always a man of bold and quick expedients, who never failed of making a thing he would not fail.

THE ELECTION.

The first municipal election held in the City of Belleville was the liveliest which has taken place here for many years. It was a warm contest for the Mayoralty, and that there was a multitude of candidates for the position of Alderman in each Ward does not detract from the result. The fact that the alighting was good also contributed to the result.

The Majority contest especially was provocative of a great deal of interest. The majority of the candidates being considered very evenly balanced. A great number of alights were made. Mr. Robertson's party having largely the advantage in this respect, and the large of the bells were rung in the new covered streets. Both parties worked with a will, there having been few elections in which greater exertions were put forth by both sides.

At the time of going to press, the polls have not been closed, but the result of the entire election will be laid before our readers in an extra to issue this evening.

The Lincoln Election.

We have frequently referred to the Lincoln election trial, in which the Grit party were defeated, in consequence of their neglecting to keep Mr. Rykert out of the seat which he fairly won. The legal persecution, which has now lasted upwards of two years, seems likely to fail. The St. Catharines Journal states as follows: "The Court of Appeal has decided that it was not necessary that the property should be mentioned in the Voters' list as was decided in December, 1876, by Mr. Justice Patterson, on the application to strike off the vote of Rykert. The consequence of this decision, Mr. Rykert applied to the Judges to strike out all names in the St. Catharines voters' list, but they decided to take the opinion of the Court of Appeal on the vote of Rykert. SEPARATE SCHOOLS.

A public meeting of the supporters of Separate Schools, (the public generally being invited to attend,) called by Mr. M. J. Granger, was held in the Town Hall on Friday night. The attendance numbered probably about 200, a considerable number being boys, and but few Protestants were present. Mr. The Hon. J. H. Macdonald, Chairman of the meeting and Mr. J. L. Lundy Secretary of the meeting.

Mr. Granger read a report in detail of the receipts and expenditures of the Board for the past year, signed by the Auditor, which showed that $2,110 had been expended and that $32 remains in the hands of the Secy. Treasurer.

The Chairman then desired any one who had any question to call to do so, but no questions were asked.

Mr. Granger also expressed his readiness to answer any question. He thought the statement he had read showed conclusively where the money had gone to and how it had been applied—that it had not been misplaced or stolen, as had been charged against the Board.

Mr. James Meagher, Chairman of the Board of Separate Schools, then rose, and made a long and powerful speech. He said all who knew him were aware of the great interest he had taken in education for the past twenty-five years. He had been one of the few who had come forward to support the House of Assembly Bill when a meeting was called here to denounce it, but had known as much then as now he would not have done so. He had found the theory of Separate Schools to be a reality. Their practice working was bad, as the administration of the schools frequently fell into the hands of a particular interest, greatly to their detriment.

They had been accustomed to hold their meetings in the Town Hall, and to discuss financial statements, but in a certain quarter the people had been deemed incompetent to look after these matters, and two years ago they found, on going to hold their meetings, that the doors of the schoolhouse were closed against them. Their present gathering was to vindicate their rights, and to show that such a state of terrorism should never exist in Belleville again. Having been Secretary, Treasurer, and Collector for the Board for twelve or thirteen years without pay, the sum of $160 had been voted to him for his services; but he had devoted this sum to procure maps and apparatus for the school, to which purpose the money had never been applied. At an examination of the school some of the papers written in a book on the subject, which a Rev. gentleman asked one of the Trustees to sign, which he said he could not do, as he did not agree with the statement, 1877 fell out of some $90,000.

LOSS OF THE ATLANTIC.

ONE HUNDRED LIVES LOST.
PANAMA, Dec. 27.—The following are the details of the loss of the steamer Atlantic on Nov. 30th on the coast of Chile. The Atlantic, a 12-knot steamer, was bound to pieces on a rock known as Quisque. A short distance south of the wreck the Chilean coast on the night of the 30th. The Captain, all the officers and many of the crew and passengers were rescued. It was estimated at 101 drowned, and only 29 saved. The ship was commanded by a wealthy experienced Captain and was well officered.

The accident occurred at 8 p. m., when a majority of the passengers were asleep, and so instantaneous was the breaking up of the ship that no time was given to gain the deck.

The cargo lost was of no great value. The passengers were mostly Chileans.

to the growing poverty of the people, or to a general subsidence in moneyed men, or to a special warning of faith to him, he could not tell, but he suspected the last.

It is curious how keen the public scent of private difficulty is,—how quickly suspicion gathers around a man who, however faithfully he may have discharged all his business obligations, has done it with trouble to himself and fears for the future. There was no doubt that, for some reason, the public confidence in Mr.

was wailing. His affairs had been so convulsed in business circles, and his head had been shaken over them. Nothing had been spoken of them outside, no whisper of warning had been breathing among the poor,—yet sharp instincts apprehended the tottering of his strength, and a certain indefinite change in himself. The man who had had a courteous word for every body, now passed his best friends in the street, without knowing them. He was absorbed, preoccupied, and found it more difficult from day to day to do the accustomed. Some of his recent dependents called, under various excuses, to withdraw their loans. Men bowed to him in the street in a different manner from that to which had been accustomed. Money-lenders gave him short greetings or a wide berth.

He was unpeppably vexed and distressed with the change, and it did not work well with him. It maddened him and made him desperate; yet still he could not only blame their selfishness, but take refuge in his own superior motives. These motives hardened, however, from day to day, into a determination to save himself at any risk—almost at any price.

Did he mean to wrong anybody? No. He fully intended to pay every dollar of his debts. This, at least, would be necessary to save his reputation, and he said

It was in this mood and in this condition that Nicholas would have found him on the night on which he received the letter from the burglar concerning the stolen bonds, had he persisted in his determination to call upon him and read the letter to him. At that moment he was cloistered with one of his largest and most important creditors—one who, on the brink of failure, was telling him that he must and would have his money. It was in vain that Mr. Benson assured him that the debt could not be paid without distressing others and involving a ruinous sacrifice of property. Necessity could take no counsel, and generous. Ruin was not in the mood to consider ruin; and Mr. Benson was obliged to submit to the rule of business which circumstances had compelled him to enforce upon others.

So, before the creditor left the house that evening, he secured a promise from Mr. Benson that the debt should be paid on the following day.

This was the hardest emergency that Mr. Benson had ever experienced. He had made a desperate promise, under desperate pressure, and must keep it or go to protest, and acknowledge himself beaten. He had nothing to keep his promise with

His mind trod the weary round of possibilities again and again, and at every revolution it paused before the safe that held the stolen bonds. He did not wish to touch them. Why had he held them? Why had he not placed himself beyond the temptation to use them? Could it be that Providence had withheld his hand from restoration? Could it be that the God he had prayed to so earnestly intended that these bonds should come into his hands for ten-porary trial, in the most cruel exigency of his life! It seemed so. He could see no other way out of his trouble. There were the bonds lying idly in his safe, there were in them all the help he needed, and more. They were doing good to nobody. At the very moment he contemplated this, his heart went up with an emotion of gratitude!

The devil had come to him as an angel of light, with the blasphemous message that Providence was dealing with him,—that a miracle had been wrought for him,—that a man who held him in his hands and held him in contempt, had been made unwilling tributary to his safety. This devil he was not to tell him that he had paid for the bonds a certain sum of money, that he had taken them from the hands of the robber, that he was ready to give them up to any man who could prove them to be his, that he had kept them safely for the owner, and that he only wanted a temporary use of them.

What should he do? What would any man do with ruin staring him in the face, the means of avoiding it in his hands, and a message more than half believed to be from heaven in his heart, bidding him use the means?

Still, if Nicholas had told him of his letter, the message from heaven in answer to prayer would not have come to Mr. Benson. He might even have informed Nicholas of his possession of the bonds, and insisted on putting them into his hands. He had gradually approached, and finally reached, a determination to regard his heavenly father and his path brightly. Was this heaven's own smile of approval? It seemed to be.

But here another difficulty arose. Where should he use the bonds? He found that however divinely sanctioned his use of them might seem to be, he was not ready to use them in the open market. He could not place them where he could not at once lay his hands upon them.

So he was shut up to a single resort. It was again the law for an officer of the Poor Man's Savings Bank to use its funds for his personal purposes. But he must use them for a few days, and no harm could come to the bank, with such security as he had it in his power to offer. He had become so blinded and benumbed in his apprehensions, that he did not see that his one illegal and irregular act would demoralize every officer of the bank, associated with him, and that he would lose all power to control them. He did not see that every man of them would demand a loan for himself, as a bribe to secrecy, and that he would by his act inaugurate a confederacy of crime that would endanger or destroy the institution in which he had taken so much pride.

Before noon on the following day the bonds were in the vault of the savings bank. Mr. Benson's creditor was paid, and he had a surplus fund on hand which would give him room and leisure to work for the redemption of his pledged securities.

The first effect was great mental relief to Mr. Benson. The second was an organized demand, on the part of the other officers of the bank, for accommodations for themselves. They gave him plainly to under-

THE EASTERN WAR.

MIDNIGHT DESPATCHES.

LONDON, Jan. 12.—The armistice negotiations have made no progress since yesterday's report, the Russians insisting that negotiations must be conducted on the basis of equality and complete independence. A statement effect has been conveyed from St. Petersburg to the Porte, and it is asserted at Constantinople that the British Ambassador at St.
 Louis, the British Ambassador at St. Louis, has been instructed to express to Prince Gortchakoff, Lord Roberts' ambassador at Constantinople, that the Russian Government cannot be treated for an armistice.

All sorts of rumors are afloat, as that the Great Duke Nicholas had intended to surrender of Adrianople as the first preliminary to the conclusion of a truce, and that Russia will demand the evacuation of the Danube fortress and the withdrawal of Turkish troops from demarcation between Adrianople and Philippopolis.

Hadley's great victory in the Balkans has rendered the Russians more exacting as to the terms of peace.

The first fruits of Hadley's victory are shown in the advance of two columns from Kozani to the city of the Thracians, Yoni Zagora, and the other to that of Tatar Ravizlik. The Yanbul Railway is threatened (if not actually cut), and ultimately Adrianople itself. Preparations are already being made for the defence of the latter city. The staff of the civil Government has been removed to Rodosto, and the non-military portion of the city has been ordered to leave.

It is not believed, however, that a serious defence of the place is contemplated. A change has occurred in the personnel of the Turkish Ministry. Hissar Pasha having been appointed Grand Vizier, and none of the old Ministers retaining their seats except Serdar and Nispet Pasha.

At the west the Turks have sustained two great reverses in the surrender of Nisch to the Servians and of Antivari to the Monten-egrins. The latter are now marching on Scutari.

ERROY LIFE.

What a truly beautiful world we live in!

Nature gives us grandeur of mountains, glens and coasts, and thousands of meads for our enjoyment. We can drive over them in perfect health, but how often do the majority of us, in the year of our disappearance, disorganized and worried with disease, when there is no occasion for this feeling, as every sufferer can easily obtain satisfactory proof that Green's August Flower will make them as free from disease as when born. Druggists and Lovers' Complaint is the direct cause of seventy-five per cent of all diseases, and is the cause of Indigestion,

Constipation, Sick Headache, Constipation,

Nervous Prostration, Dizziness of the Head,

Exhaustion of the Heart, and general debility, which symptoms. Three doses of August

Flower will prove its wonderful effect.

Unsolitied Testimony.

Belleville, Me., April 28, 1864.

Gentlemen—Seeing numerous notices of the Wine & Liquor, ordering the mode of the Great London Remedy, WINE & LIQUOR, with CHERRY, I am induced to take great pleasure in giving publicly to the great credit accomplished in my family in the year

1863. I have the pleasure to say that my son, Henry A. Archer, now postmaster in this place, was attacked with spitting of blood, weakness of the heart, and general debility, so much so that our family physician declared him to have a fatal disease. He was under medical treatment for a number of weeks, but the disease became more and more dangerous. He was then sent to the length, for the treatment of himself and others, I was induced to purchase one bottle of WINE & LIQUOR, with CHERRY, which benefited him so much I obtained another bottle, and he is now perfectly recovered, and is in the best of health. I can safely recommend this remedy to others in like condition, for

I think it is perfectly safe, and it is a

REMEDY FOR THE TIMES!

I think it is perfectly safe, and it is a

The Timber and Lumber Trade of 1877.

There are some features which indicate that this trade is at last showing signs of improvement. The lumber trade of 1877 was a very successful one, and the lumber trade of 1878 is expected to be even more so. Unsolicted Testimony.

Fairfield, Me., April 28, 1874.

Gentlemen—Some time since I received the "Main Farmer," containing the merits of the Great Lumber, and I am induced to take great pleasure in giving publicity to the great success accomplished by your family in the year 1874. During the summer of that year my family was afflicted with a severe case of the disease, which was attended with getting of blood, coughing, weakness, and general debility, so that our family physician declared that we had a "fatal consumption." He was unable to treat the disease, and a number of months, but received no benefit from it. At length, the solicitations of himself and others, I was induced to purchase a bottle of VIKAR'S BALM OF WILLY CHERIE, which in a short time restored him to his usual state of health. I am safely recommending this remedy to you in favor of your Balm, and your good disposal.

As ever, yours, ANDREW ARCHER.

NICHOLAS MINTURN,

BY

J. G. FOLLAND,

AUTHOR OF "SEVENKIND," "ARITHMETIC

BOSSICAULT," ETC.

CONTINUED.

The young man and the old man bowed stiffly to each other, Mr. Benson saying quietly:

"Our friend does not seem quite well this morning. Perhaps you had better call some other time."

Without saying a word, Nicholas stepped to Miss Larkin's side and rang her bell:

It sounded the knell of Mr. Benson's patience and exasperation, for, at a moment,

Miss Larkin appeared, and entered, with profound alarm, upon her minister's restoration.

Mr. Benson bit his lip, gathered up his papers, and, with an angry glance at Nicholas, started for his library.

"Can I see you a moment, this morning?"

Mr. Benson said Nicholas, as the latter passed him.

"There was an air of restraint about his face. He would not quarrel in the presence of Miss Larkin, but both recognized the elements of a quarrel in the situation.

When a man is lost in a thick fog, and all the things which lead toward a goal are

closed against him, he has no choice but to go on in such paths as he can find, and take his chance. He has no choice but to take it if he remains—out that he is sure.

At least, excitement and hope in action.

This was precisely Mr. Benson's condition.

He would fight for life to the last. He prejudiced that the Nicholas believed in his guilt, and he knew that he had made no change in the young man's convictions:

but he had learned that the Nicholas had evidence was at command for fastening conviction upon himself, and he believed that at that distance from the young man's probabilities were all against the discovery of the only evidence that would place him

Poor Nicholas was at his wit's end. He could make no headway against such difficulties as this. He had expected to bring Mr. Benson to his knees, as he had done on former occasions. He had pictured to himself the trembling victim of his righteous wrath, begging for his mercy and restoring his property. He had been right, for once, and he was mastered, though he was just as sure of Mr. Benson's guilt as he was when he entered the house.

In the present condition of Mr. Benson's mind, he saw that his plan was hopeless.

Moral certainties were of no more account.

There was no way by which Mr. Benson could be reached, except by legal process and legal evidence. He saw that his case was utterly hopeless, in fact, that the moral certainty was a legal uncertainty, and that his evidence, in a court of justice, without such corroboration as he could not collect, was not worth a straw.

He saw that charging Mr. Benson with guilt would not help his case, and so disappointed, stunned, helpless—he rose to take his leave. He had learned that the son running for his life, and the lion at bay, were two very different animals.

After Nicholas went out, Mr. Benson was filled with a strange emotion of victory.

He had lost Miss Larkin, but he had reached the point where he was ready to fight for his independence of Miss Larkin. She was quite at liberty to choose her own path, and he would take care of himself, in the only way that she had left to himself—to his friend's expense and his own. He would not let her sense of revenge in this, and went out of the house at least in a state of mind more collected and calm than he had experienced for many weeks.

When a man is lost in a thick fog, and

it if he remains—out that he is sure.

At least, excitement and hope in action.

this morning James Thompson, recently

MELANCHOLY ACCIDENT.—A melancholy accident occurred at Napton on Saturday afternoon, whereby Mr. James McMillan, father of A. M. McMillan, of Kingston, was killed. He was struck by a train while crossing the track. He died about seven o'clock on Saturday evening. He was a quiet, inoffensive man, about 71 years of age, and was highly respected.

specially invited to attend the lectures.
Both parties seem sanguine of success."

DEATH OF MR. JAMES HOPK.—The Kingston News of the 21st inst.—"We deeply regret to learn that the sudden death of Mr.
James Hopk's death is unfortunately too true, and that he expired on Friday and was to have been buried yesterday. For many years Mr. Hopk was a much respected merchant and citizen of Kingston, but lately in business, a few years ago, was rather unsettled. Recently he had been travelling for a boat and horse house in Montreal and had gone to Newbury on a visit to his brother, who resides there, on Monday."

having taken ill of pneumonia it is said quickly succumbed to the disease. Mr.
Hopk leaves a son and two daughters, one the other, married to Dr. W. Geo. Beatty.
To lament his loss. Dr. Beatty was in the city to-day, after having attended his father-in-law's funeral. The deceased was a brother of Dr. Hopk, of this city.

PATROUS CHURCH DEBTS.—The great success which attended the M. E. Church in their special effort to pay off their church debts has stimulated the other Christian denominations to go and likewise resulted in the clearing of debts in the city.
At a yearly congregational meeting of the John St. Presbyterian Church last night, it was determined by those present to pay off the debt at once, and the collection was put in motion, when nearly $4,000 was subscribed on the spot. A committee was then appointed to wait upon the members of the congregation who were absent, from whom it is expected the balance of the sum required will be more than made up.

SCHOOL TRUSTEES.—At the meeting of the City Council last night, Mr. James Macdon, one of the retiring Trustees, was re-appointed, and Mr. Thomas Wills, M. P.
E. E. was appointed as the successor. An interesting discussion took place on the subject, a report of which will be found in other columns. The point discussed was the eligibility of a Roman Catholic to sit as a Union School Board, which question was brought up by those members of the Council who held that the intention of the law was to elect a supporter of a Roman Catholic Separate School were placed in a position to elect a supporter of a Roman Catholic Separate School. The question was discussed with great force, and the result was a vote in favor of the law, with the exception of one vote, which was cast for the Roman Catholic. The result was a great deal of satisfaction to those who were in favor of the law, and a great deal of disappointment to those who were in favor of the Roman Catholic.

Belleville Cemetery Company.— The annual meeting of the shareholders of the Belleville Cemetery Company was held in the office of the Secretary, A. G. Northrup, on the 21st inst.

On motion of Mr. Forin, seconded by Mr.
Tinkler, Mr. Howell was called to the chair.
The Secretary then read the report of the Directors for the past year, as follows:—

To the Shareholders of the Belleville Cemetery
Company:—
Your Directors in presenting their report for the year 1877, cannot mention anything that has happened during the year, which they do not think it proper to mention, or that they do not think it proper to mention, and have no report to make to you. Your work has been carried on regularly, and they think it is a credit to the company.

By careful attention on the part of Mr. Brenton, Chairman of the Committee on Grounds, the expenses have been kept as low as possible, and do what was required to be done.

Owing to the depressed state of business, your Directors have called in the balance due on stock subscribed, but find it will be necessary to do so at once, as the latter of the morning against the property, and they think it is a credit to the company.

The liabilities, as will appear from the Treasury's report, exceed the assets of the company, but your Directors do not think this a reason for discharging them. During this year the debt has been reduced and the work of the company carried on. The principal thing required is a heavy co-operation on the part of all interested and the public at large. Many thanks are due to the company for the necessary expenses attending the successful working of the company—much more when asked to pay for work done on their site, as the profits—if any—went into the pockets of your Directors. All work done, the stock newly purchased and not paid for, and a loan to the company.

The grounds are in good shape, and can be kept so by a small outlay over and above the salary of the caretaker of the grounds. Your Directors cannot close their report without putting on record the deep loss they feel they have sustained during the year in the removal by death of their President, Francis Mc-Annay, Esq. He was one of the first producers and most successful promoters of the scheme which has issued in the present cemetery grounds; ever willing to aid by his household and in every way in his power. His loss will be long felt. While we bow submissively to the will of the all-wise God, we will, we rejoice in the belief that our loss is a great gain to him who has been taken from among us.

All of which is respectfully submitted.
A. B. NORTHROP,
Secy. Treas.

Dated Jan'y 21, 1878.
On motion of Mr. Howell, seconded by Mr.
Jas. Smith, the Report was received and adopted.

The financial statement of the affairs of the Company were laid before the meeting, showing the Company to be in a better position financially than last year; still the statement shows an indebtedness which is a debt to be settled, and therefore the stockholders requested the Directors to call in the balance of the stock, and to take steps for the collection of the same.

A letter was read from Mr. E. W. Holton, declining re-election as a Director, owing to inability to attend to the duties.

The election of Directors was then proceeded with, and resulted as follows:—Messrs. M.
Bowell, John Horton, John Bell, Alex. Holbertson, M. Sawyer, John Forin, A. G. Northrup, and Jas. Smith.

The Directors are to meet at the Secretary's office for the purpose of organizing, on Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Police Court.
(Before A. DICKSON, Esq., J. P. M.)

George Hoggar, for assaulting Edward Harison, was fined $15 and costs. The case arose out of a dispute concerning an account.

A Tour in the Holy Land.

Rev. Dr. W. N. Kinn, of Detroit, delivered his lecture on the above subject in the M. E.
Tabernacle last night. About 100 persons of commencement, the Church was packed to overflowing.

The Rev. Mr. Lane said he had received a letter from Mr. Kinn, stating his inability to be present to act as Chairman—and that C. L. Coleman, Esq., had kindly consented to preside.

Mr. Coleman said he regretted that absence prevented the attendance of Mr. Bell. He congratulated the congregation on their fine attendance, and then proceeded to read a letter from Mr. Kinn, stating his inability
to be present to act as Chairman—and that
C. L. Coleman, Esq., had kindly consented to preside.

The Rev. Dr. Kinn commenced by describing the sea voyage of himself and companions and the difficulties and inconveniences pertaining thereto, and the first morning of spring, describing on their way when every eye was strained to its utmost to catch a glimpse of the long desired coast of Judea, and their hearts beat fast when that coast was at last reached. Then all children's fancies and dreams became a reality. Here he vividly pictured the transfer of passengers into small boats, and to the landing place, which was crowded with a multitude of people, who were all anxious to see their preferred host.

The lecturer described the narrow and crowded streets, and the beautiful, olive-colored people, the women being veiled like so many of the Easterns. He described the scene round about the town, and then the necessary arrangements for the 35 miles horse back ride to Jerusalem, and his great disappointment in finding such poor quality of horses instead of the Arabian steeds of his childhood. He described his astonishment at finding the roads not macadamised, and at the absence of carriages, then being only one carriage in all Palestine. The horses, however, proved better than they seemed. The distance of ten miles they reached Ramleh, at which place they pitched their tents. The lecturer then described the journey to Jerusalem, and the low hands look charming, although the route through the plain was not the best.
They at length reached the holy city of Jerusalem, and their hearts leaped with joy on presenting their passports at the gate.
Then, too, they found the streets narrow and crooked. Here the lecturer described the inhabitants, their occupations, &c. They spent twenty days in Jerusalem. The lecturer described the valley of Jehoshaphat, and said he had seen the place where David was born. He described the feeling which unexpectedly came over him when he stood on the mount of Mount Olivet and saw the city of Jerusalem, and the temple which was the summit of it is really a splendid scene.
Beautiful walls led from Mount Olivet. Here guides took them to different scenes of interest, and showed them the Cross of Christ and the Tomb. They then went to the Temple, or what is supposed to be the identical place which is so interesting to us. Having rapidly seen the city, they returned to the hotel, and the lecturer then read the report of the Directors for the past year, as follows:—

To the Shareholders of the Belleville Cemetery
Company:—

THIRD SESSION—THIRD PARLIA-MENT.

MORNING, Jan. 21.
After recess, Mr. Clarke (North) moved the first reading of a Bill to amend the Pharmacy Act of 1871.

In reply to Mr. Ball, the Attorney-General stated that the Government had not yet tended to propose any amendment of the municipal or school laws with a view to reducing the number of polling places, and of assimilating the election of school trustees to that of municipal councillors.

The Estimates were brought down to-morrow, and that the Treasurer would make his financial statement on Wednesday or Thursday at furthest, and the House adjourned.

NICHOLAS MINTURN,
A STUDY IN A STORY.
J. G. HOLLAND.
AUTHOR OF "REVENGE," "ARTHUR BOURNEVILLE," ETC.

These were the questions that Nicholas, as his plans would take him away from the city during all the summer months. He was revolving these questions in his mind, noting nothing more than him, and seeing nobody, when his ears were saluted with the familiar greeting

"Say!"
"Hullo, Tim! How are you this pleasant morning?"

The pop-gun man, without his usual burden, raised and shook hands with Nicholas.

"Say! I wanted to see you," said Tim.

"We are near Glen's office," said Nicholas, "and we'll go in there and have a talk."

Bob Spencer, the new office boy, heard his father's voice upon the stairs, ran quickly to the door, seized and shouldered his broom, and the new-comer entered, presented arms in military fashion, and with a countenance as grave as that of a general.

"What does this little monkey mean by this?" inquired Tim, who was surprised at his boy's way of overstepping the boundaries of propriety.

"Oh, it is a bit of nonsense, contrived by the fellow who is in the office," said Glen. "I don't mind it."

Jonas was scratching away at his desk, with a quiet smile upon his face.

"Jonas," said Glen, "put him through his manual."

Bob sprang to his broom again, and responded to the words of command with great promptness and exactness, while the spectators looked on with much amusement, and rewarded the performance with cheers.

"Put me through my catchment," said Bob, who was excited by his new address.

Nicholas smiled. He had amused himself with Bob when Glen was absent, but he had not expected to be called upon to give an exhibition of his pupil's proficiency.

"Go on, Jonas," said Glen, who was ready for anything that promised a laugh.

"Make your obeisance," said Jonas.

Bob responded with a profound bow and the greatest man living inquired acquainted.

"Mr. Montgomery Glen," said Bob.
"Who is the greatest?"
"Who is the worst boy in the world?"
Bob Spencer.

"What is Bob Spencer's chief duty?"
"To keep his hands and face clean and show proper respect to his superiors."

"Who is the greatest woman in the world?"
"Miss Jenny Costen."

"What is the greatest reformatory agency known to men?"
"A woman's hand on a boy's ear."

BELLEVILLE, THURSDAY, JAN. 31.

City and Vicinity.

MISSIONARY MEETINGS.—The annual missionary meeting will be held in St.
John's Church to-night. That in Christ Church will be held to-morrow night.

FURS BY AUCTION.—Wm. Johnson & Co., have determined not to carry over a dollar's worth of furs, and therefore offer them by auction at their store on Saturday, the 2nd of February at 10 a. m.

"When the Son of Man shall come in His glory," Matthew XXV, 31.—Bible Reading to-night on the above subject in the hall of "Daniel's Band," conducted by a member of the Band. Free to any.
Come!

Best family flour at $2.50 per 100 lbs at H. Corby's, 5, flour and feed store. He also sells all kinds of feed at proportionately low rates. Indw.

The Auction Sale of Furs at Wm. Johnson & Co.'s, will be continued through the whole of Saturday the second of February, so that those who cannot attend in the morning can do so in the evening.

SALE OF PONIES.—A Brockville paper notes the sale to a Belleville gentleman of a beautiful team of Indian ponies by their owner, who resides in Gannanque, for the consideration of $300.

THE CONCERT.—The Kingston News says:—"Misses Wilson and Bates, of this city are to sing at a charitable concert in Belleville to-morrow evening. The Belleville people may depend on a rich musical treat."

At the Auction Sale of Furs at Wm.
Johnson & Co.'s, on Saturday the 2nd of February, seats will be provided for ladies.

OPERA HOUSE.—The Cool Burgues combination gave a performance in the Opera House last night before an appreciative audience. The entertainment was fairly good the company appearing to better advantage than on their previous visit here.

EYE AND EAR.—It will be seen by advertisement that Dr. J. D. Stewart, the eminent oculist and aurist, is to visit Belleville again. He will remain at room No.
43, Dufour House, for two weeks, commencing on Monday, 4th of February.

Should the whole of the stock of Wm.
Johnson & Co.'s, Furs, not be sold on Saturday the 2nd of February, the sale will be resumed on the following Saturday.

THE FUR TRADE.—Prices of furs have fallen to so low a rate that the trappers in this section have done but little, the work being no longer profitable. With the decrease in production prices may take an upward turn next season, but buyers entertain grave doubts on this point.

The stock of furs to be sold by Auction at Wm. Johnson's on Saturday, the 2nd of Feb., consists of Mink, Muffs, Beas and Sets, South Sea Seal Muffs, Beas and Caps, Ermine Muffs, Beas and Caps, Grebe Muffs, Astrachan Jackets, Men's Fur Caps, Mitts and Gloves, &c., &c.

THE WEATHER.—The cold has been steadily since Monday, consequently the ice on the bay has been breaking up steadily since Saturday. Still business continues dull, the roads being almost bare of snow. It is now about time for one of the snow-storms, which Vennor has predicted to hit its appearance, after the coming of which the appearance of business may be rubbed off.

CHARIVARI.—The marriage of a middle-aged widower and a young spinster, who reside on Yeomans' Hill, West Belleville, was made the occasion of one of those disgraceful affairs called a "charivari," on Tuesday night. Last night the disturbance was renewed, and Police Sgt. McCruden went to the scene to restore order, and with the object of getting a stop to it. The Sergeant's excursion was made at about 11 o'clock, at which hour he found assembled a large number of people, probably about one hundred in all, in close proximity to the dwelling of the newly married couple.
There were men and women, and young people of both sexes in the crowd, all of whom were disguised, some by blinding their faces, whilst others were attired in fantastic costumes, whilst night was made hideous by the performances of a tin band, the beating of tin pans, pistol shots, discordant cries and other disagreeable noises.
The officer pointed out one of the sneakers, who was attired in a sort of a "Horne the Hunter" costume, namely with a deer's head and horns attached to his cap. The females cried out to their male associates to march out to the police station, and some of the priest, and some of the men seized the Sergeant, but he drew his revolver and so menaced his assailants that they drew off, and the prisoner was conveyed into the house of the bridegroom. The crowd soon after dispersed and the prisoner was taken to the police station, whence he managed to escape during the night. Officer Han-kiss was in charge of the station

THE EASTERN WAR.
MIDNIGHT DESPATCHES.

LONDON, Jan. 30.—A Wireless despatch reports that a number of Whitehead torpedoes and special torpedo launching stations torpedoes has been shipped for the Mediterranean fleet, and 4,000 barrels of cannon shells have been brought from the reserve magazines at Southampton to the Thames ready for shipment.

The London Correspondent states that Austrian troops declined to consent to join action with England unless she is previously assured that the British Ministry is safe against the attack of Opposition, which might leave Austria isolated at a later stage and that the Ministry intend, pending the vote, to furnish the requisite guarantee. If the Ministry could secure a large majority a very important European combination will appear.

A Vienna despatch to Brussels confirms the report that Austria has addressed a Note to Russia requesting the fulfilment of the Treaty of Commerce. The Note also forms the subject of general diplomatic conferences.

A Gallipoli correspondent says:—"On Wednesday the Russians were at Delagatch and Ferdijk. The telegraph lines are interrupted, and it is reported they are advancing towards the city."

A Persa correspondent says:—"A Council of war was held to-day (Wednesday) Robert Pasha was present. The Council determined to take measures for the defence of the capital."

A Vienna correspondent says an official despatch received in Vienna announces that the Russians have occupied Barga and Rod-do. He hints there is a secret understanding between Russia and Turkey. There is no confirmation of these movements from any other source.

A St. Petersburg despatch says:—"The commander of the Russian steamer Constantine reports that he left Sebastopol for a cruise on January the 22nd, and approached Balaclava on the 29th, where there were several Turkish vessels. The Constantine sent a Whitehead torpedo against her steam engine on ground outside and sank her immediately. The crew was drowned."

The Globe alleges on the authority of Russian newspapers that typhus prevails among the Russian troops in the Caucasus and Armenia to such an extent that it might be called a plague.

A St. Petersburg correspondent telegraphing yesterday, says:—"I can state positively that the Russian Government up to this afternoon had received no intelligence of the signing of an armistice."

AFTERNOON DISPATCHES.
EUROPEAN.

LONDON, Jan. 31.—There is great activity throughout all the English dockyards and armies, and warlike preparations are noticeable on all sides.

A despatch from Constantinople says the armistice is still unratified, and the Russians are advancing. The Porte has repeatedly telegraphed to the Turkish peace plenipotentiaries, but without reply.

A despatch from Vienna says that Austria has distinctly warned Russia that she will recognize separate peace conditions, if they are not set to the treaty.

It is stated that the question will be asked in the House of Commons to-night respecting correspondence between Mr. Gladstone and Negropontis. Mr. Gladstone some time ago was accused of inciting the Greeks to attack Turkey. He challenged the Telegraph, which printed the charge, to produce its informant.

LONDON, Jan. 31.—A meeting was advertised for 3 o'clock this afternoon at the City Terminus Hotel, to protest against the supplementary vote. Long before the advertised hour all adjacent streets and open spaces were filled with crowds which swarmed into the Government, many patriotic songs and held important meetings in support of the Government's policy.

The proprietor of the hotel called in the police, but a small squad had no effect. Several rooms in the hotel were gutted. There was no attempt to hold an anti-credit meeting.
To 9,000 outside the hotel, and the police of Manchester yesterday, for refusing to submit to a reduction of 12 per cent.

LONDON, Jan. 31.—A despatch from Paris says it is rumored on the Bourse that Gallipoli is surrendered to the Italians. The Turkish demonstrations by the war and peace parties were held today at the Cannon St.
Hotel, in this city. A number of speeches were made. The advocates of the war party predominated. A plank was displayed, and the war party, on which was inscribed "Down with the traitor Gladstone."

TOTTENHAM, Jan. 31.—The Evening publisher under reserves a very doubtful private telegram from Constantinople, assuming that the place negotiations had been broken off.
The Turks will resist to the last extremity, and that foreign ambassadors are taking measures for the protection of the Christians.

ADRIANOPLE, Jan. 31.—The Grand Duke Nicholas arrived today. The Russian war guard have occupied Bobaki, Haskio, Derdion and Kir-Kilias. The Czar's army has overrun the Army has overrun the Army is everywhere retreating upon the fortress of the Quadrilateral.

LONDON, Jan. 31.—The Vienna correspondent telegraphs to report about Austria the Austrian note to Russia, says:—"At the beginning of the war the Government imposed Russia that continued, even if processed by treaty, her power in Bulgaria, would not be viewed with interference, and there can be no doubt the occupation of this province after peace would meet
